

Lawrence Lottenberg, MD, FACS

Paradigm Medical Director

Catastrophic Care Management

Specialty

Surgery and Anesthesiology

Undergraduate Degree

University of Florida, 1971

Medical Degree

University of Miami, 1975

Internship

University of Miami/Jackson
Hospital 1975-1976

Residency & Fellowship

University of Miami/Jackson
Hospital 1976-1980

Boards & Certification

American Board of Surgery,
2012

American Board of Surgery,
Surgery Critical Care, 2008

Medical License

Florida, Indiana

Expertise Applied at Paradigm

Multiple Trauma

Start Year at Paradigm

2014

Dr. Lawrence Lottenberg is a Paradigm Medical Director, specializing in multiple trauma and critical care. He is currently practicing at a Level I trauma center in West Palm Beach, FL and a Level II trauma center in Ft. Wayne, IN. He has been a surgeon since 1980 with a focus on trauma, emergency general surgery, elective general surgery, burns and surgical critical care.

He has been the trauma medical director at two different institutions, one at Memorial Regional Hospital in Hollywood, FL where he developed the Level II trauma center in 1992 and then matriculated that institution to a Level I trauma center in 1999. Most recently he began, organized and staffed the Level I trauma center at the University of Florida in Gainesville.

Dr. Lottenberg has served as the past chairman of the Florida Committee on Trauma and the past president of the Florida Chapter of the American College of Surgeons. He has received numerous teaching awards and has been recognized as an outstanding surgeon by several societies. From 2004 to 2014, he was an Associate Professor of Surgery and Anesthesiology at the University of Florida College of Medicine. In 2011, he served as the Senior Visiting Attending Trauma Surgeon for the U.S. Army at Landstuhl Regional Medical Center in Landstuhl, Germany.

Dr. Lottenberg has been with Paradigm since 2014, focusing on multiple trauma and critical care cases.